WINTHROP OPENS HER DOORS TO STATE'S LAWMAKERS

Editorial Asides

By nature we are not very poetic, but the campus these past few weeks has almost made us lyric. The rains have everything so Antinous fresh that the sun's brilliance has been almost blinding. In the spring we say that nothing could be lovelier, but the vigorous beauty of early fall forces us to retract our earlier statement. The campus looks neat and yet the bright leaves seem to be tumbling down faster than ever.

For those who miss their flower gardens at home we recommend a visit to Miss Deane's garden between the library and music hall, a rose bush by Tillman hall, and the garden near the amphitheater.

It is worth a walk through the corridors to see the novel and amusing posters on their walls. Close observation will reveal a sunny sky, black cats, a wreck, a war, and a terrifying ghost with wild white draperies which float mysteriously in the breeze.

Cheap enthusiasm for Locky could reach a new all-time high if the posters urging both participation and pep are any indication of a trend. Halloween parties took second place in the poster contest but their descriptions were so vivid that we are sure the ghosts really prowled and rattled their chains Saturday night.

We think someone should warn modern authors of their injustice. When we have so much work to do and apparently so little incentive time to do it, it is decidedly unfair to have books about with titles which almost try to read.

How does one go about resisting alluring titles such as these: "Orchids On Your Budget," "Conversation as a Midnight," "Present Indivisions," "Collection Of Parables," "Army Without Banner," "Look Eleven Years Younger," "And So Victoria," "Fifteen-Thirty," "Background in Tennessee," "The Oldies?" Perhaps our powers of resistance are unusually low or perhaps the appeal of these titles is too strong to be fair.

WINTHROP WILL BE FEATURED ON BROADCAST

Phelps And Roberts Will Conduct Program

A thirty-minute broadcast featuring Winthrop will be presented next Friday at 3:30 p.m. over radio station WIS in Columbia. President Shelton Phelps and Dr. W. B. Roberts, head of the music department, will conduct the program.

Dr. Phelps will talk for ten minutes on "State College for Women." The sextet, accompanied by Margaretta Williams, will sing during the remaining twenty minutes. Six out of the following ten girls will compose the sextet: Augusta Cochran of Greenwood, Mildred Hayes of Lake View, Mary Frances Owsell of Laurens, Anne Dams of Bishopville, Helen Wallace Mize of Edgefield, Christine Riley of Denmark, Jane Kennedy of Spartanburg, Mary Margaret Brunson of Fairfax, Mildred McKeithen of Florence, and Eleanor Stiggins of Acon.

... "It is not only to give our girls sound scholarship and a thorough professional training, but also to have them go out from us with an erect carriage, a fine physical and mental development, a good, pleasing conversational voice, good English, good health, good manners, right ideals, and a high Christian character."

WINTHROP WELCOMES YOU, STATE OFFICIALS!

Today, Legislature Day, the students, officers, and faculty of Winthrop college extend a "hearty" welcome to Governor Olin D. Johnston, members of the General Assembly and their wives, and members of the state executive group and their wives.

We consider it a rare privilege to have you with us today—a day which we have eagerly anticipated. We feel highly honored that you have most graciously consented to spend this day at Winthrop. Your presence here will truly be an inspiration and will stimulate much interest among the students in State affairs.

We want you to know the ideals and aspirations of Winthrop, the only State college for girls. In the 51 years of its history Winthrop has maintained its ideals in fulfilling the purpose of the college, which was stated by its founder and first president, in the words given in the drawing above.

Today, you, representatives of the entire State, have an opportunity to see how effective his work and that of his successors has been. We in turn have an opportunity to learn from you how this work might be made more effective.

May your short visit be a pleasant one! May this day create a spirit of cooperation and friendship between the students and the law-makers of the State! We welcome you to Winthrop, and sincerely hope you will come back often.

FALL EDITION OF JOURNAL TO HAVE 20 CONTRIBUTORS

Editors Announce Changes In Policies Of Magazine

The fall issue of The Winthrop Journal is scheduled to come off the press within the next two weeks, according to Lois Young, editor in chief.

Containing contributions from more than 20 students the Journal will carry a wide variety of literary forms: essays, short stories, a play, poetry, sketches, line drawings, and articles. The size of The Journal will run from 96 to 70 pages, although the page size will be slightly smaller than in previous years.

The 1927-28 Winthrop Journal, representing a fall, a winter, and a spring issue, will attempt to include as many different writers as possible. The editors are discouraging more than a single contribution from any one writer so that a larger number of contributors can be secured.

Contributors for the fall issue will include: Margaret Danton of Charleston, Frances Burnett of Spartanburg, Emily Harrison of York, Elizabeth Kennedy of Lancaster, Marie Catherine Riddle of Albemarle, H. C. Dorothy Craig of Lancaster, Mary Hart of Myrtle Beach, Katrina Pardee of Aiken, Merrill Gibson of Waltham, Mary Elizabeth Kell of Fort Law, Josephine Williams of Sumter, Margaret McMillan of Columbia, Lois Young of Anderson, Rose Rudolph of Aiken, Martha Orr of Anderson, Eleanor Roberts of York, Renner Union of Anderson, Kate Macle of

Cornelia Otis Skinner Appears Tomorrow Before Winthrop Audience

Celebrity Will Present Program Of Original Sketches

Cornelia Otis Skinner, one of the unique personalities of the American theater, will present a program of original sketches tomorrow evening, as the second in the 1927-28 series of Artist Course numbers.

Miss Skinner, a daughter of Otis Skinner, was born in Chicago. Her mother was Maud Durbin, an outstanding actress and beauty of her day. She was educated at Baldwin school at Bryn Mawr and at Bryn Mawr college. Later she advanced her education in Paris under the guidance of Debilly and Jean Hervé of the Comedie Francaise and the famous Jacques Copeau at the Theatre du Vieux Colombier.

Her professional debut was made in a small role in her father's production of "Blood and Sand." Later she appeared in the plays of other stars and producers, always in increasingly important roles. Finally, however, she discovered a more agreeable medium for talent by departing from regular theatrical productions and appearing alone in programs written by herself. It was a happy decision as has been attested by the extraordinary success that she has attained.

In addition to being one of the most expert—and astute—actresses of the American theater, Miss Skinner, unlike most other stars, writes her own material. Aside from having written such long plays as "The Loves of Charles IX," "The Wives of Henry VIII," "Madame on the Moon," and "The Emperor Eugene," she has written a hundred, perhaps more, shorter character sketches, and has contributed many humorous pieces to The New Yorker, Ladies Home Journal, and other leading magazines. She has recently become one of the most promising and pleasing of radio personalities.

HOME-COMING TO BE HELD NOVEMBER 19-21

Alumnae Chapters Will Send Five Delegates Each

Home-Coming at the Alumnae Association will be held November 19-21 at Winthrop, according to Miss Lella Russell, alumnae executive secretary.

Each alumnae chapter in the state will send five delegates. In addition to this number there will be one delegate at large from each county. These delegates were selected by the Alumnae Association at a meeting last June.

All representatives will be guests of the college from Friday afternoon, November 18, through Sunday dinner, November 21.

On Saturday evening, November 20, the alumnae will attend the Salisbury Opera Guild, an Artist Course number.

"The hours intervening between these dates will be filled with interesting events," commented Miss Lella Russell, secretary of the association. "However, the entire program has not yet been completed."

Wed. Night Vesper Programs Announced

Great poets and their romances on a religious life will be discussed in a series of Wednesday night vesper programs by Dr. Hampton Jarrell and Miss Otto Pink.

Gives Modern Monologues

Cornelia Otis Skinner, the reputed rival of Tallulah Bankhead for the favor of London theater goers, who will appear here tomorrow evening on a program of short dramatic sketches of modern interludes.

T. S. TEACHERS TO EXCHANGE NOVEMBER 15-21

Supt. O. M. Mitchell Announces Program

The fall teacher exchange program of Winthrop Training School is scheduled for the week of November 15-21, according to Supt. O. M. Mitchell.

This exchange program is planned primarily for the teacher who has begun her work in the field and offers her an opportunity of help in solving problems relating to sources of material and control. The program offers to other teachers the opportunity of observation of demonstration teaching in the Training School.

177 Participated Last Year

Graduates of any institution may participate in the exchange this year, as was the case last year when 177 teachers took part.

Grades majoring on the three levels—Primary, Intermediate, and high school—and in the special subjects—school music, home economics, commerce, physical education, and art—may participate in the exchange.

Exchange Plan

According to the exchange plan the Winthrop school reports on Monday morning to the school to which she has been assigned. She spends the day as an assistant teacher with the regular teacher and thus becomes oriented in the work and schedule of the school. Monday evening or Tuesday morning the exchange teacher comes to Winthrop, leaving the school to charge of her room for the remainder of the week. There is an exchange of lodging and food between the senior and teacher—no under is accepted into the home or boarding place of the teacher and the teacher takes the senior's place in the dormitory and dining room at Winthrop.

Through the exchange plan the senior obtains practical experience in field work.

Vespers

Rev. Charles Douglas of the Presbyterian church of Seneca will speak at vespers Sunday night at 8:30 in Johnson hall.

Approximately 100 State And Rock Hill Officials And Their Wives Accept Invitation Of College

Approximately 100 state officials and their wives have accepted invitations from Winthrop to be guests of the college today in observance of Legislature Day. Included in this group are Governor and Mrs. Olin D. Johnston, members of the General Assembly and their wives, and the senators and their wives. In addition to these, the mayor and city council of Rock Hill will be present.

Registration from 10 to 12 beginning at 10 o'clock this morning with registration, the program for the day includes assembly, dinner, and a tour of the campus and buildings.

From 10 to 12 the following committee of high ranking students will greet the guests in the lobby of main building: Briggs Anderson of Greenwood, president of the Student Government association; Mary O'Dell of Spartanburg, president of the T. J. von Macdonald of St. Matthews, president of the senior class; Elizabeth Crum of Greenwood, editor of The Tattler;

Lois Young of Anderson, editor of The Winthrop Journal; Marjorie McMartin of Winthrop, president of the Athletic association; Fern McGowan of Hodge, president of the Senate; Roberta Marsh of Edgefield, chief freshman counselor; Mary Augusta Powell of Seneca, head marshal; Katrina Pardee of Aiken, chief procurer; Louise Johnson of Chester, business manager of The Johnsonian; Mary Allen Stone of Union, business manager of The Tattler; and Virginia Davis of Florence, president of the Fresh class.

Miss Ella Wardlaw, dean of freshmen; Prof. R. A. Perry of the English department; and Elizabeth Kelly, editor of The Johnsonian.

Past Presidents Of Book And Key Return To Induct Nine New Members

Rogers, White Hardin, Theodore Are Officers

Nine new members were initiated into the Book and Key, Winthrop's honorary academic scholastic society, in the library of Johnson hall Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The ceremony was conducted by the three past presidents of the order, Mrs. Harley (nee Hallie Mae McKeithen), Anne Pitta, and Virginia McKeithen.

Dr. Donald Martin and Professor J. W. McCain, joint founders and faculty advisers, were hosts for the occasion.

Congratulations are in order for the following new members, named in the order of their rank based on quality point ratio, officers being assigned automatically by rank: Dorothy Rogers of Conway, president; Anne White of Spartanburg, vice president; Crystal Theodore of Greenville, N. C. secretary; Kate Glenn Hardin of Rock Hill, treasurer.

Adelaide Shebrook of Edisto Island; Laura Briggs Anderson of Greenwood; Sara Grace Buckley of Kingstree; Mary Augusta Powell of Seneca; and Elizabeth Johnston of Laurens.

These students have been selected on the basis of their distinguished records in liberal studies maintained for three consecutive years. For this period they have maintained a quality point ratio of at least 2.50 in courses of which at least 75 per cent are of a non-professional nature.

The Book and Key is a society designed to recognize and promote scholarship. It serves to stimulate scholarly endeavor in the liberal arts.

Greetings to the members of the General Assembly, other state officials, and their wives, who are honoring us today by their presence on the Winthrop campus. I wanted them to see our buildings, equipment, and grounds; I wanted them to meet our teachers and officers, and especially our students, whom we are doing what we can to help live happy, successful, useful lives in the state we all love.

Shelton Phelps
President, Winthrop College

In behalf of the student body of Winthrop college, I welcome you to our campus. We are glad you have come to see us at our daily work. We want you, the legislators, to know how proud we are of our school. Let us show you about the campus, and answer questions for you. We want to know you, and want you to know us, so that there may be an understanding between the workers for Winthrop and the workers at Winthrop. We are glad you are here today, and hope you will return again soon. Again, I say, "Welcome from the student body of Winthrop!"

BRIGGS ANDERSON,
President of Student Government

James Pinckney Kinard, Winthrop's 'Grand Old Man,' Still Plans for Winthrop as President Emeritus

BY LOUISE FANT

"He's Winthrop's grand old man"—Winthrop's because 28 years of his life have been devoted to serving the institution, grand because he is adored by so very many colleagues and students, old in service, experience, and knowledge, but never in spirit, and a man because he has always put the school and its interests before his own.

Dr. James Pinckney Kinard, president-emeritus of Winthrop college, fills a unique position in the history of the school. In various capacities he has been navy-clad girl scout and go since the beginning of the school itself. He became an English teacher when the school was moved from Columbia to Rock Hill in 1895. Since then, except for four years (1914-1917), spent at The Citadel, his Alma Mater, in Newberry, and at Anderson college, he has called Winthrop home. From his return in 1917 until 1929 he was dean, and professor of psychology. Then after the death of Dr. D. B. Johnson in 1929, Dr. Kinard was elected president. During the five years of his presidency he was constantly saying, "I'm only holding the reins until the right driver comes along." In 1934 he smiled, "And the right man is here."

The friendship between Dr. Kinard and Dr. Phelps is beautiful and inspiring, for each loves the other with a sympathy unusual. It is the love of a master for a pupil who in time will surpass him—the love of a father for his eldest son. They work together, they go on trips together, and they are never happier than when telling jokes together. It was not a matter of telling jokes the reins after all—together they guide Winthrop.

For now that the purely business and technical affairs of running a state institution do not take up his time, Dr. Kinard devotes his energies to the more personal needs of Winthrop. The school in all its phases is his hobby. His problem in life is to solve that puzzle in the best way possible. To make the blocks fit, even he must whittle away chips of wood in certain places and graft on layers in others. Sometimes new blocks have to be added, and they are.

And so it was that the Senate, the legislative body of the Student Government association, came about. It is his brain child, the proof of his belief in the power of the students to govern themselves.

So it was that the nursery was founded three years ago; for he realized the importance to the future mothers of the state of actual experience in child training.

So it was with improvements in the social life on the campus—Dormitory lounge, radio rooms, li-beries, and parties are all pet plans maintained.

His last child is quite, quite young. In fact today is the first Legislature Day at Winthrop. If his ideas are carried out, there will be one every year. Thus he goes on—thinking, hoping, and achieving.

Perhaps it is Dr. Kinard's unflinching faith in the Winthrop girls themselves that inspires such endeavor for him on their part—perhaps it is this determination of "The girls can do it. I know they will strive, or maybe it is his whimsical sense of humor that pops out in his office, in his classroom, or on the stage at chapel, or perhaps it is his simple, sincerely interested-in-the-way manner that wins for him the devotion of all with whom he comes in contact.

—Or perhaps it is his human blue eyes that twinkle and twinkle beneath the heavy overhanging eyebrows.

As he stands beneath his portrait, a tall, slender aristocrat of a man, white haired, smiling, in morning coat and striped trousers in impeccable good taste, he represents the old and the new; the past, the present, and the future; the ideals of Winthrop and her actualities, but now and always, he stands for progress governed by sound common sense.

7,771 Winthrop Graduates Live In Or Near S. C.

Seven thousand, seven hundred and seventy-one of the alumnae of Winthrop are still living in South Carolina or in border-line towns, according to Miss Letta Russell, alumnae executive secretary.

Leading the list with a total of 1,842 is the north central alumnae district, which includes York, Chester, Lancaster, Chesterfield, Palmetto, and Kershaw counties and also Charlotte, Greenboro, and Winston Salem, N. C.

The central district with 1,383 alumnae is second. Those former students live in Richland, Orangeburg, Lexington, Sumter, Lee, Calhoun, and Clarendon counties.

The northwestern district with 1,324 alumnae is third largest. Oconee, Pickens, Greenville, Anderson, Abbeville, McCormick, and Greenwood counties comprise this group.

The northern alumnae district is Spartanburg, Union, Cherokee, Laurens, and Newberry. Here 1,046 former Winthrop students reside.

Marion, Marion, Darlington, Georgetown, Florence, Berry, Dillon, and Williamsburg, which make up the eastern alumnae district, have 1,201 alumnae.

The southern district with 480 alumnae includes Berkeley, Charleston, Dorchester, Colleton, Beaufort, and Jasper counties. Savannah, Ga., is also in this district.

In Aiken, Edgefield, Saluda, Barnwell, Allendale, Sumner, and Hampton counties Winthrop claims 541 alumnae. They are the western district.

Thirty-five states out of forty-eight have representatives in the alumnae report.

Hogarth Speaks at Meeting of Y Cabinet Tuesday

Tells Of Origin Of Y Association

Bills of philosophy were included in the talk given by Miss Lillian Hogarth, general secretary of the Y, at the Y cabinet meeting Tuesday at 8 o'clock in the library of Johnson hall.

She advised that "nothing succeeds like success," "success comes in cans, not in cans," "one thing I do—don't forget I dabble in," "a woman wrapped in herself makes a mighty small parcel," and "no group rises above the thoughts of the leaders."

Miss Hogarth explained the worldwide view of the Y association. They originated in 1844 in England. Winthrop's Y dates back to 1906, only 30 years after the first student association was formed in the United States.

The local Y has its place in the southern region, the National Student Council which embraces all the regions, the National Y Board which includes community and student organizations, and the World's Y. W. C. A.

Textbook Room Being Equipped In Library

Plans Announced By Miss Dacus For Utilizing Space

A new textbook reference room, better lighting facilities, ways of lessening noise, and a few individual study chairs are included in the plans Miss Dacus has for library improvement.

The reference room to be completed soon, makes provision for a student to use reserved books with checking on a card. It is to be located near the stacks.

Miss Dacus plans to put gliders on all chairs to lessen the noise of students coming to and leaving tables.

Individual study desks, which will also have a number of books at one time, will be installed in a new section of the reference room.

Miss Gullidge

Miss Gullidge, late fall, who is leaving Rock Hill, S. C., on October 15, was the guest of several parties in Rock Hill.

South House Council

Given Buffet Supper

The house council of McFarland hall was entertained last week at a buffet supper in the dormitory parlor. The purpose of the meeting, in addition to the social relationship of the council, was to discuss house policies and new ideas that might bring about a more co-operative atmosphere in the house.

The house council is planning to have regular weekly suppers so they may discuss house affairs.

The council consists of the following members: Miss Esther Cleveland, Mrs. Lillian Bates, hostesses; Billy Bundy, M. C.; Anna Dixon, Bursar; Alice McFarland, Treasurer; and Margaret McFarland, Secretary.

Miss Gullidge was given a handsome piece of silver.

Guests were: Misses Mamie Gullidge, Mrs. Bishop, Sister Chas. Annie Pender, John Lott, Mrs. Madeline Mary O. Matthews, Mrs. Good was assisted in serving by Madeline Mary O. Matthews and Jack Lott.

Luncheon at Joyner

Mrs. Cora Harvorn and Miss Julia Bradford gave a luncheon Wednesday, October 26, at Joyner hall.

In addition to the hostesses these guests were: Misses H. Bishop, Sister Chas. Annie Pender, John Lott, Mrs. Madeline Mary O. Matthews, Mrs. Good was assisted in serving by Madeline Mary O. Matthews and Jack Lott.

Bridge Party Thursday

Misses Dora Harrington and Helen Callahan catered for Miss Gullidge at a bridge party of six tables Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Mrs. Bishop's home.

Miss Ruth Rollings was high score girl, Miss Ruth Higgins was low score and Miss Julia Long out for consolation.

One table played casino, and Miss Janet Miller was the winner of the prize.

Miss Gullidge was presented with a crystal fruit bowl, and each guest was given a corsage on her tally.

Mr. Lybrand at Party Saturday

Lovely among the pre-nuptial courtesies being tendered Miss Gullidge and Clyde Lybrand of Wagner, was the bridge party at which Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Byrnes and Misses Williams Reeves and Julia Long entertained Saturday evening at the Byrnes home on Oakland avenue.

Strawberry Leaf Holds Annual Banquet Thursday

The members of Strawberry Leaf held their annual banquet Thursday night at 8:30 in Clio hall.

The hall was most well decorated with orange and yellow decorations and Halloween place cards.

Dr. Joseph, Grand Alpha of Strawberry Leaf, was toastmaster. In Dr. Keith's response to the toast he traced the development of Strawberry Leaf from its beginning to today.

Mamie Katherine Ritchie was in charge of the program. Grace Suckey was an interesting general subject. Her paper was a study with a Halloween face on it.

In addition to the Strawberry Leaf members, Dr. Mary Armstrong, Miss Ruth Rollings, Miss Melvin Ellis, and Dr. Warren Keith were present.

Math Students Enjoy Outing At Shaker

Members of the Archimedean club and the National Council of Mathematics Teachers had a Halloween supper at the Shaker Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Ruth Stokes, Miss Fannie Watkins, and Miss Mary Cary Pope, of the mathematics department, catered the group.

During the evening games were played, and the "Big Apple" was danced. Later supper, including hot dogs, coffee, cake, and ice cream, was served. Afterwards marshmallows were toasted.

Ten students participated in the weekly recital of the music department last Wednesday in Music hall auditorium.

The following played on last program: Mildred Price of Agnes; Dorothy Conner of Timmonsville; Helen Dickson of Orangeburg; Hattie Chandler of Sumter; Aurelious Day of Columbia; Elizabeth Weathers of Florence; Frances Williams of Chester; Alice Holles of Rock Hill; and Christine Crawford of Savannah, Ga.

Entertainments Given In Honor Of Visitor

Mrs. Kate Olsen Harlin, dean of women, and Miss Eliza Wardlaw, dean of freshmen, gave an informal tea for Mrs. Sarah M. Sturtevant of Columbia university, New York, Tuesday afternoon in Johnson hall.

The Student Government board and the assistant dormitory hostesses were guests.

Mrs. Sturtevant was again honored Tuesday night by a dinner party given by Mrs. Harlin and Miss Wardlaw at Joyner hall. Mrs. Gibson and the dormitory hostesses were present at this function.

Delegates Attend 4-H Rally

Ruth Wingard of Lexington and Virginia Gorm of Bailey attended the 4-H rally at the State Fair, October 20.

They went as delegates from the college 4-H club. Ruth is president and Virginia is secretary of the club.

Personalial:

Rachel May, graduate from Winthrop in the class of '37, was the weekend guest of her aunt, Miss Louise McFarland, who lives in Rock Hill. She is now teaching in Columbia.

Grace Stewart of Abbeville and Martha Orr of Anderson sponsored the Davidson-Purman game at Davidson Saturday. Martha sponsored Harold Smook, player on the Purman team, and Grace sponsored for "Dutch" Knight, Furman football star.

Drezenle Entertaines Students With Party

Brescia's hall entertained its residents Saturday night with a delightful Halloween party from 9 o'clock until 11.

The rooms were attractively decorated in true Halloween style, with balloons, orange and black streamers and jack-o'-lanterns.

Martha Andrews was in charge of the Den of Hecate, which was arranged in the basement.

Penny shows, under Helena Graham's direction, and several clowns furnished amusement for the guests.

After a costume parade prizes were awarded for the most appropriate costumes.

Popcorn, hot dogs, and peanuts were sold during the evening.

Halloween Dance Sponsored By Tri Beta

A Halloween dance in Johnson hall Saturday night from 9 o'clock until 11 was sponsored by Tri Beta Beta, national honorary biology fraternity.

The lobby was attractively decorated with cornstalks, colored lights, colored paper, and jack-o'-lanterns.

Music for the dance was furnished by the radio and victrola. Those attending wore either costumes or evening dress.

Frances Robinson and Jean Moss were judged the best Little Apples. Margaret Gandy and Rebecca Barr won prizes for the best balloon dancing.

Town Girls' Weekend To Be Nov. 6-7

College To Be Host In Dining Room And Dorms

Changed from an annual spring event to a fall one, town girls' weekend will be held November 6-7. The Winthrop students are looking forward to having the entire student body on the campus for the social event.

Originally the date was set for the 13th and 14th, but because of unavoidable conflict, over one hundred day students are expected to be on the campus this weekend. The college will entertain the guests in the dining rooms and dormitories from supper Saturday through breakfast Sunday.

Preparations for a true "Big Apple Party" are being made by Sara Trumble, representative of town girls of U. Cabinet. The party will be held in Johnson hall. Winthrop's student activities building.

The novelty of dormitory life will be experienced by the town girls when they enter throughout Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Breakfast for the night Saturday, Winthrop hosts, and ball sessions are in the making along with the official entertainment of the group.

MacMurray, Lombard in 'Swing High, Swing Low'

The popular "Swing High, Swing Low," with Carole Lombard, Fred MacMurray, and Charles Butterworth, will be shown in movie auditorium Saturday night, November 6.

Carole Lombard as Maggie King and Fred MacMurray as Skid Johnson fall in love and are married in Panama. Skid gets an offer of a job in New York, and though Maggie knows he shouldn't go, he accepts. Another woman comes into the picture, so Maggie goes to Paris for a divorce.

Skid proves to be a failure, but when he sees Maggie, he again the world's greatest court player; and, sadder and wiser, he picks up the threads of a romance that started to unravel on the docks of Panama.

Seventeen Winthrop Students' Biographies To Be Published In Collegiate Whos Who

BY MARGUERITE AUSTIN

"I SHOT AN ARROW"

Several of Miss Casey's sharpshooters missed the bull's eye the other day. But it wasn't so bad after all, because they found the arrow and, in so doing, discovered the "carry-over" value of victory.

"This is wonderful practice for hunting State eggs," naively remarked one of the shooters as she happily continued hunting arrows.

PLAY YOUR POSITION

Miss Welner to freshen up hockey player: "And what position do you play?"

Freeman, obligingly: "Center forward."

Miss Welner, just to be sure: "Center forward in the middle of the field?"

And Miss Welner, who perhaps insist that there are center forwards in a Winthrop who don't play in middle of the field.

SHOW ME THE WAY TO GO HOME

Getting the gymnasium piano turned around to be rather an embarrassing ordeal for the piano tuner and a bit of an upset for the thespians class, the modern dancing students, and Miss Welner.

Upon casually turning a doorknob to leave the corrective room, where he had just finished a piano, our tuner found himself in the modern dancing class. Quickly he sought another door, opened it hopefully, but soon found himself hopelessly out of place amid the bathrobe-clad members of the thespians class taking back examinations. Frantically Mr. X rushed through another door, and this time entering an office where Miss Welner was changing her shoes and socks after a class.

"Please show me the way to the stairs that take you out!" begged the befuddled piano tuner.

"Straight ahead, then right," laughed the bare-footed phys. ed. instructor.

IT'S A RATIO OF 129 GIRLS TO ONE BOY

No the Davidson boys invited the Winthrop seniors over to a football game. Just for that, we'll guarantee to furnish them with plenty of "woolies" when they come to Winthrop to clash with Clemson in that soccer game scheduled for the near future.

SPORTS KALEIDOSCOPE

Sports reflecting shorts on tennis courts as weather gets colder—Someday's a day! . . . Miss Post's folk dancing group looking forward to having their pictures taken in costume . . . Miss Lea's old complicating her brogue a bit . . . Twenty members present at the meeting of Miss Hayden's dance club . . . Isabel Padgett holding championship in horse shoe pitching, Mary Cary runner up . . . Everybody looking forward to using the new phys. ed. library—There's a grand new "streamlined" book on Ted Shaw with wonderful photographs of the dancing master in action . . . Sports Day approaching . . . The pep meeting and hockey tournament promising us all loads of fun—and sore throats—also, alas.

And I see that my news is just about to give out, so until next week I'll be kidding off.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED FOR SPORTS DAY

11 Girls' Colleges Invited To Attend

Plans are progressing for Winthrop's intercollegiate "sports day" to be held November 13, when representatives from 11 North Carolina colleges are expected to visit Winthrop as guests of the college and the physical education department.

PEP MEETING TO BE HELD NEXT FRIDAY

Hockey Tourney Begins Monday, Ends Friday

The opening of the fall pep meeting will be held next Friday at 6:30 p. m. in the amphitheater. The hockey tournament will be played next Monday through Friday, from 4 to 8 o'clock each afternoon, according to an announcement by Marie McMeekin, president of the Athletic association.

This year the judges for the pep meeting are not going to award the cup right after the meeting to the class displaying the greatest enthusiasm for a short period that one evening.

They will stand the hockey game, and observe the number of students that turn out to cheer their class hockey teams.

After the last game of the tournament, cups will be presented to the class that "supports its team best" and to the team that played best for its class.

The following schedule of games will be followed:

Monday
Juniors-Freshmen (B team), Seniors-Sophomores.

Tuesday
Freshmen (A + B) - Freshmen (B team), Sophomores-Freshmen.

Wednesday
